

Gender Pay Gap Reporting

The data below shows the gender pay gap that exists within the Thames Learning Trust, based on the hourly rates of pay for all employees and workers as of 31 March 2022 and bonuses paid in the 12 months to 31 March 2022.

Like most educational organisations, the workforce within the Thames Learning Trust is made up of significantly more female staff. The staff breakdown in question is:

Females: 85%
Male: 15%

Gender Split
Relevant Employees

Gender Split
Relevant Full Pay Employees

The difference in the mean hourly pay between male and female full pay relevant employees:

26.4%

The difference in the median hourly rate of pay between male and female full pay relevant employees:

30.7%

The current national average pay gap is currently 15.4%. This means that, on average, women earn just over 15% less than men.

The proportion of males and female full pay relevant employees in each of four quartile pay bands:

	Female	Male
Lower (0-25% of full –pay relevant employees)	98.4%	1.6%
Lower middle (25 – 50% of full pay relevant employees)	83.9%	16.1%
Upper middles (50 – 75% of full pay relevant employees)	82.3%	17.7%
Upper	74.2%	25.8%

Gender Split Per Quartile

All of employees in the lower quartile are female and perform support roles, such as Teaching Assistants, Cleaners, Midday Supervisors across the Trust.

The Trust follows the National Joint Local Government Services and the Standard Teachers Pay and Condition document.

There are no bonus's paid for any of the relevant employees.